

Covid Communique 23 - 12 April 2021

From 10 April the restrictions for places of worship have been further eased, but will need to be applied, and possibly explained, carefully.

Churches can have 100% capacity of the space normally used for formal worship, during formal worship. The rest of the time it is 'recommended' that churches follow the normal social distancing rules of 1.5 metres and all other usual hygiene measures.

Some parishes may wish to limit still how many people sit in a row or a pew, for example, because of the social distancing recommendation. Nevertheless, this relaxation does in fact allow more worshippers to be present during services, which will greatly help some of our churches.
